EMPLOYERS

The Public Relations Society of America (PRSA) Virtual Career Fair will connect your company with top talent from our vast community of professionals across the nation.

This event caters to public relations and communications professionals and veterans seeking employment.

The Best Part is this event takes place online. Save time and money – meet and engage with qualified job seekers in live online chats, and access their resumes and social profiles with the click of a button. If you value what this diverse community brings to the workforce, this is an event you'll want to attend! This is a unique opportunity to recruit members of our organization all from the comfort of your home or office.
