

2019: Building on 30 Years of Excellence

Welcome to the College of Fellows' Home" on the PRSA website. We are glad you found us, especially in this 30th year of our existence.

Here you can find information about becoming a Fellow, about your Fellow colleagues, your class, opportunities for service, accomplishments and dreams of the College, and as we collect it throughout the year – the 30-year history of this amazing organization.

We are an organization that recognizes and honors outstanding member of the Public Relations Society of America – those who have been a professional public relations practitioner or educator for over 240 months and who have significantly advanced the public relations and communication field. We also are an organization that gives back and pays it forward – helping advance the profession and professionals of any age or career stature through mentoring, education, support, professional development, and leadership.

If you are not yet a Fellow, we would love for you to apply. If you are a Fellow, but not yet involved at some level, we encourage you to contact us to find out where your talents are needed. And if you are a highly active Fellow, we thank you.

As the College of Fellows celebrates its 30th year, we invite you to become part of this special history in a way that is meaningful to you. Let us know how we can be involved together.

Have a wonderful year.
